Palliative Behavioral Disturbances in Alzheimer's Disease

- Presenter: Jeremy Louis Koppel, MD, Associate Professor, Departments of Geriatric Psychiatry and Psychiatry, Institute of Molecular Medicine, Feinstein Institutes for Medical Research
- Recording Date: Wednesday March 6, 2024, 12:00pm ET
- Psychosis and aggression occur in nearly half of those affected with Alzheimer's disease. In addition to contributing to distress, psychosis heralds a more rapid decline that reflects a unique underlying pathophysiology. In this talk, recent advances in the study of neuropathology and the brain networks implicated in psychosis will be presented along with new horizons for treatment based on emerging science.
